

The Connoisseur in Cut Glass.

Chooses Hawkes, in preference to any other. There is a daintiness of design, a clearness and beauty and brightness about Hawkes glass that is not found in quite the same perfection in any other brand. And yet it costs no more than others. Of course, the price depends largely upon the elaborateness of the design. We have, for instance, fruit bowls at all the way from $6 to $20; bon bon dishes from $2.25 to $8; vases from $2.25 to $15; pepper shakers and salt cellars from 85c to $2.50 each; and any number of other superb table pieces in wide variety of price and design. For wedding gifts, what could be better chosen than a piece of Hawkes Cut Glass.

CITY POLITICS PACIFIC

No Strife For the Honor and Glory of the Thing

Few Men Want Office With Little Possibility in the Way of an Easy Graft

There is no intensity of clamor for places at the coming city election, and candidates for mayor and aldermen are shy as the maiden who begins to cast her first glances at the boys. It does not seem to interest the average politician to get into a job where he can't get a salary, and the system under which the government of Salem is carried on precludes the graft. The duties of the offices and the necessity of earnest efforts to promote Salem interests in the race of coast cities for development demand the best material, and every man should be willing to bear his share to get such men to serve and elect first-class men with the least expense possible.

Named for Aldermen.

In the first ward substantial citizens petition for Frank Waters to become a candidate for alderman.

In the second ward candidates are not developing, but there is a popular feeling for Max Buren, if he will take the nomination.

In the third ward there is a fine petition for Alderman Stolz's return, and also one for Lon Gessner. It is not known whether the latter will allow his name to be used. The Young Men's Republican Club may also present a candidate.

In the fourth ward no one has a pe-sick, B. F. Meredith, A. N. Gilbert and A. O. Condit. Croisan and Condit are on the school board, and are examples of what can be done under careful management, without increasing taxes, to wipe out debt, make improvements and increase the efficiency of the schools. Salem schools are going to the front as among the best in the state, but these gentlemen say they are already giving a good share of their time to the public, and should not be asked to give more.

Hon. T. B. Kay asks The Journal to say that he will not accept any nomination for a city office, legislative honors being quite enough for him.

E. C. Cross and Thomas Holman are mentioned as suitable men for the first mayor of Greater Salem.

The Cramer Factory.

R. M. Cramer, of the organ and wagon factory, of Corvallis, accompanied by Mr. Montgomery, an experienced sawmill man, who is to have charge of the proposed sawmill plant, met with citizens at the club room last night, and discussed the matter in a thorough manner. In order to secure the desired addition to Albany's manufacturing interests it will be necessary to raise a bonus of $2500 to cover the purchase of a site and the shipment of the plant here and secure security for an indebtedness of $5000 before the plant can be moved. The plant is said to inventory at over $19,000, at half the original cost, making a valuable one.

F. J. Miller, C. H. Stewart and C. E. Sox were appointed a committee to go to Corvallis next Monday to make a thorough investigation of the plant and liens on it, and then report to another meeting of the club.—Albany Democrat.

Got Wise at Last.

The case of Edward Eberhardt, plaintiff, vs. M. A. and Clarence Buncce, defendants, recently tried before Justice Horgan, has been settled, after an appeal was taken to the circuit court, and the case will not be tried. By the terms of the agreement the Buncces buy Eberhardt's personal property, except the hay on the Buncce

Oregon Climate

Western Oregon has a climate all her own. It is just as peculiar to us as our "two bits" or "four bits." Slightly disagreeable at times, but who would exchange this little discomfort for the extreme heat and cold, the cyclones, droughts, floods and uncertain crops of other climes? No! Oregon is all right, only we must dress to suit conditions. One needs, not a great fur coat with big collar, but a medium weight overcoat, cut long, so as to protect the lower part of the body, and unlined below the shoulders that convenience for walking shall not be sacrificed for unnecessary weight and warmth. When such a garment is made impervious to water without making it look like an ordinary rain coat, we have the ideal garment for Oregon. Such are the very stylish.

Cravenettes

When the sky is clear and sun shining bright, you don't feel right to walk down street with a mackintosh on. No, but the cravenette is entirely correct for the bright sunny day, and doesn't swelter you either, and what's more, you'd never know it's a water-shed coat to look at. That's the beauty of the coat. You get the same of style and swell appearance, together with the maximum of comfort and service, all in the same coat. We carry a complete line at

Mountains of Salt.

Some remarkable salt formations are found extending for 30 miles along the Virginia river in Nevada. The salt forms mountains of crystals, and is so pure and clear that fine print can be read through a foot of it. This region was once evidently occupied by a great salt lake, as close by are some wonderful wells, one of which, 75 feet in diameter, contains water so intensely saline that a person bathing there will float like a cork.—Exchange.

To tell Poisonous Plants.

Much to be desired is a method of recognizing poisonous plants at sight. While no general rule can be given, Dr. H. H. Rusby finds that there are evident indications and that certain characteristics often go with poisonous properties. One of these is the lurid purple color of stems of castor oil, elencha, conium, pokeberry and dogbane. A narcotic odor is common in many of the most poisonous plants, though lacking in others, and a milky juice is just cause for suspicion. The most general characteristic, however, is an acid taste. This is our best safe-guard, and it can usually be relied upon to give warning before a dangerous quantity has been eaten.

Must Move On.

H. W. Clark, an Indian bootblack, was last night arrested for being drunk. This morning Recorder Judah gave him until 4:34 this afternoon to leave the city, reserving sentence on him. Clark recently completed a term in the penitentiary.

Some Say

It's too soon to buy Christmas gifts—not a bit of it. Now is the best time to make your selection and avoid the crowds, and get your pick before the prettiest and most desirable gifts are gone. Everything is bright and fresh now, while later on things are naturally soiled from handling—we say come now we are ready for you—things selected will be put aside for you until Christmas.

Patton's Book Store.

tion out, but Frank Bowersox is named by his friends.

In the fifth ward petitions are filed for George B. Jacobs and J. W. Young.

In the sixth ward there is a good petition for E. C. Churchill, and if Frank Smith will make the run his name will probably be put up. They would represent the two ends of the ward, that is three miles long and half a mile wide.

In the seventh ward the people are slow in filing nominations with the city committee. Among others mentioned is Mr. A. Vase, of South Commercial street, and if he would allow his name to be presented he would probably be nominated, and would make a public-spirited alderman. The people of the east end of that ward have decided not to present a candidate, and will support any good citizen from the other end of the ward.

Names for Mayor.

Among those now being discussed for mayor of Greater Salem are E. M. Croisan, Thomas Holman, W. A. Cu-farm, which plaintiff will haul away, and the latter gives up his contention for a lease.

One More Lawyer.

J. H. Ruberson, an attorney from Nebraska, was today admitted by the supreme court for the probationary period of nine months, on recommendation of Fred H. Mills and H. W. Koonce, of Klamath Falls.

Push Club Meets.

The regular meeting of the Greater Salem Commercial Club will be held in the city police court room Tuesday evening. Full attendance desired.

E. HOPER, Pres.

J. G. Graham, Sec. 11-23-2

Sent to the Asylum.

John Bradley, serving a two years' sentence in the penitentiary for larceny, was committed to the asylum Saturday evening. He was examined by the asylum physicians upon complaint of Dr. J. D. Shaw.
